PERSONAL PROFILE

2+ years of professional bookkeeping, economic driven university projects and provincially awarded social entrepreneurship I have become a full stack developer to pursue financial technology. I have 6+ years of experience across client-facing sales, training, and service roles, with proven results in top-grossing sales of a medium-sized business and caring for vulnerable individuals in the public sector. My knack for nurturing client relationships has translated into five-figure revenues leading to promotion. I get a genuine kick out of presenting, training, and facilitating. Always eager to execute new business opportunities, I will be continuing my education and career in Information Technology. Looking forward, I hope to combine my analytical and creative mind to assist product development in Financial Technology and provide innovative solutions for customers.
